

HODGSON PORTABLE HOUSES

ADVANCE IN PRICES

OUR Prices for the past two years have remained practically the same, although there have been many advances in prices of materials we use, especially during the past six months.

For this reason we are absolutely forced to advance all the prices in this catalog 10 per cent.

Your Questions Answered

Are Hodgson Portable Houses practical?

Thousands of people in every climate of the globe, under all sorts of conditions, are today living, sleeping, playing, working, in Hodgson Portable Houses. Twenty-three years of experience, the newest machinery, trained workmen, and perfect materials, are bent to the task of making Hodgson Houses the most efficient and economical that human skill can produce.

Are they durable?

Orders are constantly coming in for additions to Hodgson Houses purchased eight, ten, fifteen years ago, and in constant use since. Hodgson Houses stand up without repairs for years. They are built of enduring materials and built right. The enthusiastic testimony of actual users is the best proof of these claims. (See letters printed on following pages.)

What are they made of?

Rather than use a heavy cheap lumber that is expensive to ship and erect, unsightly, not durable, and put together in a way that leaves much for the purchaser to do and requires a continual expense to keep in repair, we use for a frame sturdy Oregon pine and red cedar; walls and roof of red cedar rabbeted boarding backed with a heavy fibre lining, making a strong, durable, and absolutely waterproof building, requiring no repairs for years, a roof guaranteed to stay tight for years, inexpensive to ship and easily erected by unskilled labor. The floors are of rift hard pine. The exterior of the building receives three coats of the best oil paint, the interior woodwork is stained, and all details are attended to at the factory, leaving nothing for the purchaser to do except to keybolt the sections together. Not even doors or windows need to be attached, by the purchaser; they come all fitted in place, and are the very best grade in quality and workmanship, with the best-grade mortised locks and hardware.

How are they made?

In sections, each section with windows and doors all fitted in place and painted three coats; nothing left for you to do but set up these sections and drive in wedge key bolts with a hammer—no nuts to rust, quickly done, no skill required, and when put together are as rigid as a permanent building.

What are they used for?

For seaside and mountain cottages, country homes, lake camps, bungalows, over-flow houses, garages, studios, sun parlors, screened rooms, sleeping porches, garden houses, play houses, sand houses, boys' and girls' camps, tent houses, poultry and pet stock houses, club houses, schools, churches, hospitals, gymnasiums, offices, and innumerable other purposes.

Are Hodgson Houses proof against heavy rain, snow and wind storms?

This question is answered many times throughout this catalog by unsolicited testimonials from some of the best known people in this country. Hodgson Houses have stood on bleak islands in the most exposed parts of the New England Coast, as well as being buried in snow in northern Maine and Labrador. (See pages 6 and 7.) After eight years' use in Labrador another Hodgson Portable of several rooms was sent there.

What is the foundation?

Generally of cedar, chestnut or locust posts. We send strap irons to secure the floors to the posts so that the heaviest gales will not move the building. (See page 8.) Of course, a stone, brick or cement foundation can be used, but a good post foundation will last from fifteen to twenty years. Regular cellars are often used under our buildings.

Do they look attractive?

Attractive enough to be erected without changes on many of the finest estates in America, immediately adjacent to costly mansions. Hodgson Houses have won special praise for their neatness and good taste. The roof, blinds and trimmings are a leaf green color, the walls a gray white, with window sash in ivory white.

Can they be painted any colors?

Yes, we will be glad to paint the houses in any color desired. Our regular stock colors, which we have found to be the most practical and attractive, are French gray for the walls, ivory white for the sash, and leaf green for the roofs and trimmings. If you prefer other colors, you must allow time for the painting.

Can they be taken down and put up again?

Yes, with very little difficulty and with no damage to any of the parts, and as many times as you may wish.

Does it require a builder or carpenter to erect them?

No, a couple of "handy men," following the very simple directions, can easily set up a Hodgson House with no other tools than a hammer to wedge in the key bolts, which interlock the sections and hold them rigid against the severest strain.

How long does it take to set them up?

The smaller Hodgson Houses can be erected in half a day and the larger houses in two days at most. It is safe to say that no portable house could be made that could be erected in less time than the Hodgson, and require less skill—note the village of Hodgson Portables in Messina, Italy, on page 6, all erected in a few days by native unskilled labor.

Can rooms be added at any time?

Yes, by ordering additional units, porches or ells as explained on page 10.

Are they comfortable?

Hodgson Houses are cosy and inviting, cool in summer, readily kept warm in winter, well ventilated, easily kept clean, and damp-proof—thanks to the thoughtful construction, the waterproof fibre lining, etc.

What are the advantages of a portable as compared with a regularly built house?

The saving in time, trouble and money is very substantial; your house is ready in a few days instead of a few weeks or months, and you do not have to worry about plans, construction, materials, labor, and supervision, not to mention "extras." The real money saving to a busy man is thus even greater than the cost figures would show. Moreover, the house is more salable because movable, or you can move it yourself to other locations. It can therefore be erected on leased land.

How about plumbing and heating?

Hodgson Houses can be fitted with plumbing and heating systems like any other house. A bathroom can be partitioned off, or an ell added for this purpose (pages 19 and 24) and a local plumber can install the fixtures. Heating systems can be installed, or stoves, Franklin Stoves, or fireplaces. We can furnish metal chimneys (see page 28) or a local mason can build a chimney, also fireplace (see pages 20 and 25).

How is a Hodgson house shipped?

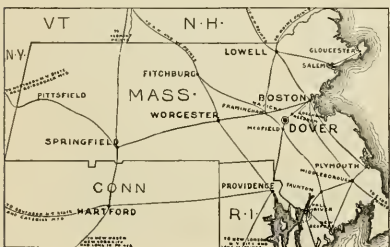

Compactly, in sections, by second class freight, put in the cars at Dover, Mass. You are notified when the shipment reaches your local freight station.

What are the terms of payment?

The prices in the catalog are absolutely net; are figured on such a low profit that it is necessary to ask either for cash with order, or one quarter cash and balance by sight draft with bill of lading attached (otherwise, satisfactory references are required).

Two Famous Purchasers of Hodgson Houses

Denman Thompson's Cottage and Garage
at West Swanzy, N. H.

"I cannot say too much in praise of the Hodgson cottage and garage."

DENMAN THOMPSON,
"Josh Whitcomb."

Royal National Mission to Deep Sea Fishermen — Labrador Branch (Three Years' Experience in Newfoundland)

St. Anthony, Newfoundland, Oct. 26, 1912.

WE found the portable house which you supplied us with in 1909 extremely practicable for this Northern climate. It has been used by us as a house for Reindeer Herders ever since its installation and is still being used.

Yours sincerely, W. T. GRENFELL, M.D.

GOOD GOVERNMENT ASSOCIATION BOSTON, MASS.

I am enclosing a few pictures of some of your portable houses which I had erected in the little town of Ali some few miles out of Messina for the refugees from Messina. They were exactly what were needed for this emergency, and my only difficulty arose from the fact that I did not have enough to supply the demand when once they had been seen.

Yours faithfully,

EDMUND BILLINGS

THIS picture shows a few of the Hodgson Portable Houses sent to Italy after the earthquake. We were allowed four days to make this shipment. The houses were quickly erected within a very few days by unskilled labor. The order was given by the National Red Cross Association of Washington, D. C.

Wintering in a Hodgson Portable at 30° Below Zero

"Last winter I spent two weeks of February in the Maine woods in my Hodgson Portable Houses when the thermometer would drop 30 degrees below zero at times. In the centre room of the house there was an open Franklin stove which heated the two bedrooms. The ell room at the end of the house had the stove which came with the portable house, and it made the little room into a most luxurious bathroom. The snow drifted into great white banks as high as the window. We could not go three feet from our door without snow-shoes, and the path leading to our other Hodgson house was cut through pure white walls of snow six feet high.

In the highest winds there was no rocking or jar to the little portable house, and never a leak or sagging of the roof with its heavy weight of snow.

All I could say in favor of your portable houses would only half express the pleasure I take in using them.

MRS. THOS. NELSON,
Peekskill, N. Y.

Ten Years Later—Mrs. Nelson writes for prices on a bungalow stating that the Hodgson Portable she had purchased for her Maine camp ten years ago has given her great satisfaction.

At Greenwich, Conn.

Owenoke Farm, Greenwich, Conn., Jan. 22, 1916.

"Four years ago, I bought one of your portable houses for my daughters, so that they might play house in a real little house. It has not only been a constant joy to the children, but a source of great comfort to the grown-ups, as there has never been the slightest need of repairing anything about the house. Through the worst storms of both winter and summer it has never leaked, and it is in as perfect a condition today as when we first set it up. The exterior, now, is very much prettier than it was, as the roses have climbed up to the roof, and form an archway over the porch. I will try to take another photograph when they are in bloom, and will send it to you next June. We feel that you deserve a vote of thanks from the entire family.

Believe me,

Sincerely yours, (Signed) ISABEL S. ROCKEFELLER.

Hodgson Portable Houses at the New England Fair, Worcester, Mass.

Worcester Telegram said—"The village of portable cottages is one of the prettiest sights one would want to look upon. This village attracted more people than did anything else on the grounds."

Worcester Post (Clipping at the time of the New England Fair)—"One exhibit which has added much to the attractiveness of the grounds is the village of portable houses exhibited by E. F. Hodgson, Dover, Mass. There are five houses in the village including three dwelling houses, a screen house and an automobile garage. The buildings are tastefully arranged and with the setting of plants and shrubs makes one of the finest exhibits ever shown at a New England Fair."

SIX YEARS OF EXTREME EXPOSURE

MY Hodgson portable house has been up six years. The roof has been painted once each year the sides and ends once every second year. Otherwise it has had no attention. It has not moved an inch since erection, and is as good today for all practical purposes as the day I received it. It stands at an altitude of 1,000 feet—30 feet from the edge of a cliff dropping 500 feet—exposed to very high winds and heavy rains, and to a temperature ranging from the heat of summer to 25 below zero in winter.

The snow is often six feet deep around it, and in the summer our heavy thunder storms bring with them floods of water. With the thermometer registering below zero outside, we have had a temperature of 75 degrees inside within thirty minutes after starting a fire in a sheet-iron upright stove, burning wood. A feature of especial delight are the ventilators. The house has been closed for months at a time, and yet upon opening it the air in the rooms has been found to be as sweet and pure as that out of doors. In the summer of 1908 it lay in the center of a hurricane that uprooted trees and unroofed houses in the vicinity, and we suffered no damage. The pleasure my husband and I and our guests have derived from the use of our house at all times of the year cannot be exaggerated. The house is situated at Clear Lake, Putnam County, New York.

"I AM entirely pleased with both of the portable houses which I bought from you. The cottage which you sent to Virginia I occupy on Sundays, whenever possible, during the sessions of Congress. The house at Hamilton, Mass., is used as an office.

Both buildings are perfectly satisfactory."

for general living and sleeping quarters for the crew while in training. These quarters have given excellent satisfaction and the crew have been able, while in training, to keep in the prime of condition. Practically every year since using these quarters, Harvard has won the race from Yale.

HODGSON UNIT SYSTEM

THE cottages shown on pages 6 to 27 are made up of units as described and shown here. Almost any combination of rooms, porches, ells, etc., can be made. If changes are desired in any of the cottages, cost can be easily figured by consulting this page.

Blank Units (disjointed)

These Units disjointed are to illustrate the ends and six foot units that are used to make the main rooms of the cottages. They are all six foot in length and either 10 or 12 ft. wide. The prices are in the blank form. Doors, windows, etc., can be added at prices quoted under these items.

Prices—10 ft. end	$20.00
12 ft. end.....	25.00
6 x 10 ft. unit	50.00
6 x 12 ft. unit	55.00

Partitions to divide the units into rooms can be located at the junctions of any of the six ft. units making rooms 6-12-18 ft. etc., in length. Price (with curtain pole as shown) for 10 ft. partition is $15.00 or 12 ft. $20.00. If a panel door is desired add $5.00.

AFTER NINE YEARS' USE

“The house I bought of you nine years ago is in just as good condition today as when received. It has been carried several hundred miles at different times, and with the exception of a few new clapboards to replace some damaged in transportation, no repairs whatsoever have been needed. I give the house a coat of paint every two years. It has been my home both summer and winter. I do not believe portable houses can be built better than yours.”

THIS picture was taken only a few weeks after the cottage was erected. It shows the artistic and practical use of the trellis and lattice porch with seats. It also shows square light casement windows which are preferred by many people. Setting a cottage close to the ground does away with steps and foundation lattice. Interior furnishings page 28. WHITE & CASE, 14 Wall St., New York.

"It is with much pleasure we report that the experiment of a portable house of your construction has proved itself far better than we thought possible. By improvising a foundation wall of barn boards and quilted paper, and by installing a small hot water heater, the house has proved absolutely reliable in all the seasons of the year. We use it as a complement to another house, and it is the permanent abode of the nursery governess and two children. An especially pleasing feature about it is its continued tightness against wind and rain. The wood does not seem to shrink, nor to develop cracks or openings, despite its sectional construction. We are going into our third winter with it."

THIS portable bath house is made in units, the same as our cottages, each unit being 4 ft. square. They can be added to at any time. Each unit is divided by a partition and has an outside door with a lock and ventilator, a seat, and several coat hooks.

It is built of red cedar and has a good hard pine floor. The exterior is neatly painted, the interior is stained. It is made in sections, which can be quickly bolted together with our special key bolts. Prices: first 4 x 4 ft. unit is $35.00; additional 4 x 4 ft. units, $30.00 each

OUTHOUSE No. 1615

THIS outhouse is made like our tent houses on pages 49 to 52, with a hard pine floor and sides of red cedar up three feet and khaki canvas the balance. The roof is of 12 oz. waterproof canvas.

It is 4 x 4 x 7 ft. high. It is well ventilated and has plenty of light. It can be easily set up by one man in less than an hour and it little trouble to take apart and store away when desired.

OUTHOUSE No. 1616

THIS building is a necessity in conjunction with our cottages and bungalows, when it is not possible to have other conveniences.

It is a neatly constructed building 4 x 4 x 7 ft. high, and it is fitted with a good panel door with lock and transom ventilator above. In addition to the ventilator above the door there is a constant circulation of air under the roof, keeping the interior always free from odors—yet weatherproof. It is made of red cedar, and the interior is treated with a sanitary preservative, making it germ-proof.

The exterior is painted like the cottages, and a lattice guard is furnished, as shown.

Price includes lattice and interior fittings.

Interior of Screened Room Attached to Cottage. Beam to Support Hammock, as Shown $1.00.

Screened Room Units

AS described on page 10 these screened room units can be used by themselves, as shown on page 43, also attached at the end or between cottage units (see pages 15 and 21). With storm awnings, as shown and described on this page, you could not have a more delightful and practical room attached to your cottage or a house by itself. They are used for living, sleeping and dining rooms and are screened complete with rustless screening. The interior finish is like our cottages. The floors are the best of rift hard pine.

Storm Awnings for Screened Rooms.

THESE two pictures show our storm awnings in use on a cottage having a screened room. They are also used on our regular screened houses, (see page 43).

They can be placed in three different positions. First: Up—out of the way like any awning. Second: Down—covering the entire screened openings making the room wind and storm-proof, an ideal sleeping room. Third: Half—up as an awning or shade. The door has a storm curtain that rolls up and down. They are shown up out of the way on the cottage on page 22.

It is lighted and heated by Electricity and has every conceivable electric appliance that could be used in the household.

Plan No. 1619.

THIS bungalow has been used the year round in a very exposed location for over eight years. There is a cellar under one end, while the balance of the foundation is boarded up. With a small furnace it has been kept comfortable in the coldest weather with very little fuel.

A beautiful fieldstone fireplace was built in the house by the owner, as shown in the picture.

The price includes all doors, windows and blinds, as shown in the plan, but not the foundation, steps or lattice work, which would vary according to the grade of the ground.

For further information write us.

Fieldstone Fireplace Built by Owner

Built for the Edison Electric Illuminating Co.

There are five rooms, each 14 ft. square—a dining room, library, bed room, kitchen, with a living or reception room in the center of the building running up some 25 ft. into a beautiful glass dome. Besides these rooms there is a bath room, a pantry, a laundry, and front and back halls.

The garage is a 12 x 18 ft. hip-roof style. No. 1654.

This entire outside is in active operation the year 'round, and is open to the public.

Hodgson Seven Room Bungalow

WITH PORCHES

THIS very attractive bungalow is located on a high hill in the town of Peterboro, N. H., exposed to high winds and heavy storms, yet it has always been storm proof and comfortable at all times. The large stone fireplace and chimney add greatly to its attractiveness and the owner's comfort.

In the rear is a HODGSON Portable Garage, in which is kept the large touring car which takes the owner to and from Boston—an ideal way of spending three-fourths of the year.

For further information see pages 4 and 5 and write us. For interior equipment see page 28.

SCREENED SAND OR PLAY HOUSE
No. 1624
Price $45.00

SCREENED SAND OR PLAY HOUSE

THIS very practical little screened-in house is of great value to keep children protected from insects as well as the hot sun. The floor is of hard pine and boxed-in up to 12 inches so that it can be used as a sand house if desired. It is fitted with "rustless" screens and screen door. The roof is red cedar and all neatly painted inside and out. Although small, it is roomy, as illustrated by the picture, and is worth many times its cost to a mother with children.

It is shipped in sections which can easily be fastened together by anyone in a short time.

Hodgson Play House with Porch and Seats

THIS attractive little play house is just as well built as our large houses

It is made of red cedar, lined with our sanitary fibre lining, and painted outside three coats. It has a lattice porch with two seats, a French glass door and diamond light casement windows. Its attraction appeals to everyone who sees it and for children up to twelve years of age it is ideal

It is a building that will stand for years and is as practical winter as summer

We have sold many of these play houses and they are giving complete satisfaction. Any handy man can set one up in an hour's time, for we leave nothing for the purchaser to do but bolt a few sections together. The windows and doors are all fitted in place and have good locks.

We make two sizes of this style play house as shown by the plans—while on the following pages are shown other play houses that are larger and of the same construction.

The many questions you may want to ask you will find answered on pages 4 and 5.

Hodgson Play or Camp House

WITH PORCH

THIS playhouse No. 1626 is made up of units, as described on page 10, so that more rooms can be added at any time. It is much larger than No. 1625 and suitable for children twelve years of age or older.

It is used not only for a play house, but as a camp or overflow house; and with one of our portable open fireplaces, as described on page 28, and other furniture, it makes a very desirable house for many purposes. As a camp for boys or girls it is ideal.

The exterior, being made of red cedar and well painted, makes a house that will last for years and always look attractive in any location.

The floors are of the best grade of hard pine. The interior woodwork is stained a golden brown, and with the Indian red fibre background, it would be hard to make a more pleasing or sanitary interior.

All necessary keybolts and plans for erecting the house are sent, so that two men can easily erect it in less than a day's time, on a foundation of posts, stone, brick or cement.

The windows are our regular style, having four in all; one glass door, and one panel back door; also trellis to the porch. Interior furnishing will be found on page 28. Also read pages 4 and 5.

Hodgson Portable Tent House

OUTDOOR life in a Hodgson Portable Tent House can hardly be compared with the ordinary tent life, which has many objectional features. These are entirely overcome in our tent houses, yet you are living near to nature in the mountains or on a stream, lake or sea-shore, with all the comforts of home. You have little care to attend to in the erection or storing your camp in the fall, it taking up but little room, is light and quickly handled, yet it is always comfortable, dry and warm during bad weather. Its heavy waterproof roof is absolutely rain tight and will stay so for years, and the floor is of nice, smooth, matched hard pine, the sides red cedar and lined with a heavy waterproof fibre of Indian red, with the frame a moss green and roof khaki, all giving a quiet, homelike, restful appearance which cannot but please those wanting something out of the ordinary.

The shutters shown in all the pictures are arranged to open at any angle, are operated from inside, and automatically locked at any point. When closed your house is tight and cosy, keeping the interior dry, and warm during the severest storms, and when opened you are living practically out-of-doors, protected by a complete screened-in wall.

During cold or stormy weather they are easily heated by a wood stove, portable open fire-place, or oil stove. A chimney is supplied and fitted in all our houses, the pictures showing this detail. See page 28 for many suitable interior fittings.

Hodgson Portable Shed Roof Garage

THESE HODGSON PORTABLE GARAGES have been on the market ever since the automobile came into existence. We were the pioneers in portable garage building and have supplied hundreds of satisfied customers in the past fifteen years.

For a low priced garage, the style as illustrated in the above picture, gives excellent satisfaction. It is made of red cedar matched siding, the exterior is neatly painted and the interior stained.

It has two gable windows for ventilation and large glass doors (8 x 8 feet), in front. Some people do not care for more light than is produced through the glass doors, but if windows are desired, consult the price list on page 10, showing window detail.

We quote this style garage in two sizes which will take care of the small as well as the largest cars.

Boston, Mass.

I would be very glad to have you photograph the garage which you erected for me on my premises in Dover. I also give you permission to state in your catalogue, if you so desire, that the various houses I have used I have found most satisfactory in every way, although having given them good hard usage.

J. PHILIP HARTT.

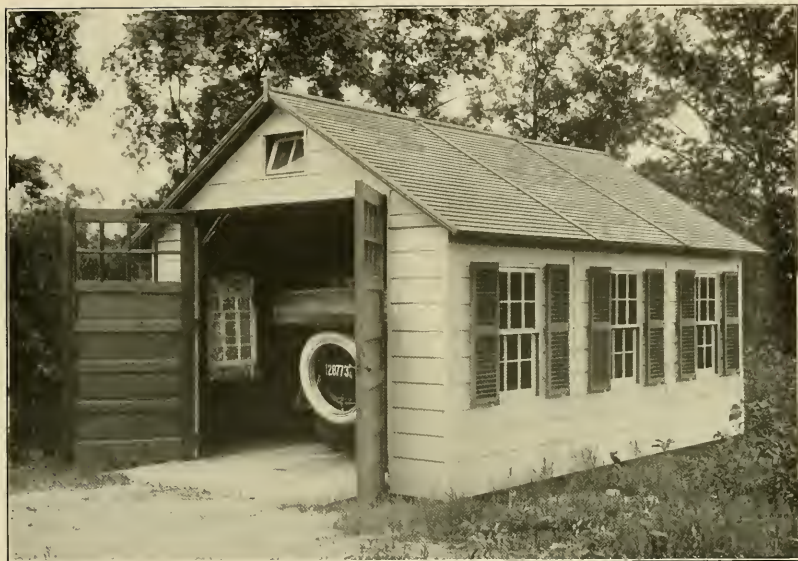

Note:—Mr. Hartt after using one of our garages for several years bought a cottage, also a large two car garage shown on page 57.

Ridgely, Maryland.

Nearly six years ago I bought one of your Portable Houses and had it shipped to Ridgely, Maryland. I had it hauled out to my farm and erected in one day. Since that time it has given perfect satisfaction. I and my family have used it every summer for our outing and in the fall and winter part of the time for a hunting lodge, the rest of the time being untenanted.

white matched pine and it is neatly painted. The floor, roof and top of the yard are easily removed, and the hen can feed through the open end of the coop without tipping over her food and water.

The addition of the Extended Yard and Shelter Board, as illustrated, will give the brood more room and outside shelter from sun and rain, for without the extended yard the chickens run at large and the hen is confined in the small yard, which is all right if there are no chick enemies.

Hodgson

Portable Colony Laying House

THIS popular style poultry house for hens is made mostly of red cedar, treated with a vermin proof disinfectant on the interior and attractively painted outside. The combination of open front, which is protected by a canvas shutter for stormy or cold nights, and a glass window gives the best of ventilation with just the right amount of light or sunshine. Too much glass in a poultry house is worse than none at all. The interior is fitted with water trough, feeder and shell box. The dropping board and roosts are detachable so that they are easily kept clean, or removed, if you wish to operate a brooder inside the building. Nests slide in under the dropping board. This makes a house complete in every detail, ready for the hens.

making for over 15 years and they are without doubt the best of their kind to be found in either of the portable or stationary type. They are made of a few sections that are quickly erected by means of our special key bolts. A Unit Sytem is used so that additional units can be added at will, partitions being furnished to divide the units into pens. Each pen is furnished complete with nests, roosts, feeders, fountain, etc. If floors are wanted they cost 15c per square foot.

Construction—They are frame buildings covered with a matched red cedar siding, which is free from all defects, resembling clapboard on the outside and sheathing inside.

The exterior is painted two coats, the interior is treated with a vermin proof disinfectant, as are also the fittings. The roof is a red cedar rabbeted boarding, lined with a heavy waterproof and vermin proof fibre. About one half of the front of the house is netting protected by a canvas storm frame that is hinged to hook up inside of the roof, this being the most up-to-date arrangement for a fresh air house. Sash are under screens for light.

It would be difficult to construct a more durable, practical and sanitary fresh air house at any cost.
